

MINERS DECIDE TO RESUME WORK

Respond to Mitchell's Advice by a Unanimous Vote at the Convention Today.

PERFECT HARMONY

Thursday Is the Day Set for Resumption of Work, and All Will Be Ready at That Time.

(Special By Scripps-McLain.)

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 21.—The great coal strike came to an end today. At sharp twelve the vote of the seven hundred delegates was taken and not one dissenting vote was recorded. Thursday is the day set for the return of the miners to work. After five months of trouble at last the end has come and the whole city is rejoicing with the assembled delegates.

Miners in Debate
Many of the delegates had questions to ask of President Mitchell which he answered with fairness to all and all who wished to asked questions before the final vote was taken. President Mitchell stated that the operators who signed the proposition did so representing the whole of the mine owners, not a few.

It was just as the whistles were blowing for the noon hour that the vote was taken and as the names were called not a single dissenting voice was raised and the strike was declared off forever.

ARKANSAS MOB BURNS
NEGRO AT THE STAKE

Broke Promise to Await Coming of Judge, Who Agreed to Grant Immediate Trial.

Forrest City, Ark., Oct. 21.—Charles Young, the negro charged with assaulting and afterwards murdering Mrs. Ed Lewis, white, was burned at the stake by a mob of infuriated citizens. The mob now is seeking another negro implicated, and he is promised the same fate.

Sheriff Williams used every effort to save the prisoner's life, and telephoned Judge Hutton of this district, who promised to give immediate trial for the negro.

The leaders of the mob had given the sheriff positive pledges that they would await the trial and take no violent measures. A mob marched to the county jail, and after having been refused the keys by Deputy Sheriff Murphy until Sheriff Williams could be acquainted with their demands, the mob not waiting for Sheriff Williams' arrival, forcibly took the keys from Murphy, and, breaking in the jail door with sledgehammers, took the prisoner from his cell.

The mob took the negro to a point half a mile east of town, bound him, piled wood around him, and set fire to it. The negro begged piteously for his life. In a short time he expired.

LINE CITY IS IN A BAD FIX

HOTEL DIRECTORS UNABLE TO SECURE SUITABLE BUILDING.

MRS. FIFIELD CANNOT SELL

Goodwin House Will Not Settle the Agreement with Fairbanks, Morse & Company.

Amid the angry tortuosities of an indignant manufacturing company and a chorus of uncertain wallings from eighteen business men the curtain has risen on another act in the Beloit hotel tragedy. After months of litigation, arbitration and discussion it has been found that the Line City still has no public hostelry worthy of mention and that there is no immediate prospect of securing one.

Not Free
Some weeks ago it was announced that Mrs. Fifield was in a position to sell her Goodwin house property unencumbered by any litigation. Since that date lawyers have been in frequent consultation with Mrs. Fifield and the Beloit hotel company, and it has been found impossible to make any progress.

Wants Bank Room
Walter M. Brittan's claims to the corner of the building where the L. C. Hyde and Brittan bank is now located are making the present trouble. He will not withdraw this suit for part of the property, and the hotel directors will not close any deal with Mrs. Fifield unless the property is entirely free.

Made Agreement
Last winter eighteen Beloit business men signed a letter to Fairbanks, Morse & Co., saying that if that company would locate the new pump shops which they proposed building, in the Line City that they would go surety that a modern and complete hotel would be established to accommodate the travelling men who would be brought to the city by the extension. After several conferences the Fairbanks, Morse & Co. people acceded to the proposition and made not only the stipulated extensions but many more. On the other hand, while the eighteen gentlemen have not been idle, the hotel is still visionary. A few days ago they received a communication from the company which they entered into agreement, causing them to time. The fact is mentioned that the city is now in even worse shape than before now in even worse shape than before because the old Goodwin house, poor as it was has been closed and nothing has taken its place.

Nothing Doing
In the meantime the situation is at a standstill. Hotel men who are considering investing in property somewhere, are constantly writing the Line City, but no one seems to care to tackle the proposition. The gentlemen who signed their names to the letter to Fairbanks, Morse & Co., are at their wit's end, and neither the hotel directors nor the Fairbanks, Morse & Co., can work out the problem.

Among the different schools represented were Oshkosh Normal, Milwaukee-Dowder college, and the Milwaukee city association, Ripon Beloit, the state university, and even a number of young women from Lawrence university in Appleton were there.

address of the meeting, on the subject, "The Talk of the New Century." On one afternoon the meetings were given up and the delegates made a visit to the normal school, under the guidance of the ladies' association in that institution.

Splendid Meeting

AMBULANCE GIVEN CITY OF BELOIT

At a meeting of the Beloit city council last night a handsome ambulance was formally presented to the city by Walter M. Brittan. On Friday last it arrived in the city as an entire surprise to everyone, having been ordered by Mr. Brittan from a Dayton, O., carriage company.

The interior is elaborately but substantially finished in leather and contains two cots with seats for the attendants, and a lantern for night use. It is rubber-tired and fitted with springs designed to minimize the jolting and jarring of ordinary travel.

Given To Beloit
On the exterior of the ambulance on each side of the driver's seat is a silver plate bearing the inscription: "Presented to the city of Beloit by Walter M. Brittan, Esq." The vehicle was given wholly through the liberality of Mr. Brittan with no conditions whatever, and he has been warmly applauded for his generosity and public spiritedness.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conley are the proud and happy parents of a baby daughter.

BIG PLANT HAS CHANGED HANDS

NEW COMPANY BUYS PROPERTY OF JANESVILLE ELECTRIC CO.

PLINY NORCROSS RETIRES

Purchasers Are the Gentlemen Who Recently Secured Janesville Cotton Mills Property.

Late yesterday afternoon the final steps were taken which completed the transfer of all the valuable properties of the Janesville Electric Co., to a new firm of local capitalists, the new stockholders being Stanley B. Smith, Levi B. Carle, Geo. G. Sutherland, Malcolm G. Jeffris, Thomas O. Howe and P. H. Korst.

By this transfer, Capt. Pliny Norcross, who has had control of the company for many years, retires from active business. The capital stock of the company will be increased from $30,000 to $100,000 and the amended articles of incorporation will be filed with the secretary of state within a few days. A meeting of the incorporators will be held at once and officers elected.

Own First Water Power
The new company is composed of the gentlemen who have recently purchased the valuable properties and water rights of the Janesville Cotton Mills company and now owns practically all of the first water power of Rock river. It is probable that this water power will ultimately be used to furnish the motive power for the plant, but at present the contracts for heating various buildings make it necessary to continue the steam plant.

Enlarge Plant
Many improvements and enlargements will be made in the plant and considerable new machinery will be installed. It is the purpose of the company to furnish power to the different factories and manufacturing plants in addition to the lighting and heating which at present constitutes the entire business of the Janesville Electric company.

A Big Deal
The purchasers of the plant are among the leading business men of the city and it is generally conceded that their recent purchases are of more importance to the business interests of the city than is known at present.

SULTAN OF SULU
A $30,000 OPERA
George Ade's Famous Musical Satire at Myers Grand Next Week, with Its Own Orchestra.

The welcome announcement of the coming to Myers Grand next Tuesday, night, of that famous operatic satire, "The Sultan of Sulu," by George Ade of "Fables in Slang," fame, will attract one of the largest audiences of the season. This company is the famous Castle Square operatic organization that carries its own orchestra of fourteen numbers under the baton of Alex. Spencer, and which is this week playing to a record breaking business in Milwaukee.

Stats will be placed on sale next Monday morning. Numerous inquiries and mail orders have already been received, and the management promises to take care of the out of town patrons, desiring to attend the performance.

Some idea of the magnitude of Hummerist George Ade's successful musical satire production may be gathered when it is known that Henry W. Savage expended nearly $30,000 before the curtain was run up on the first Chicago performance last spring. Mr. Savage staked his money on what he declared was a great American musical satire and he determined to give ever constructed in the famous studios of Walter Burridge.

The merry musical monarch was also equipped with the best cast the operatic impresario could procure. For three months, "The Sultan" proved the most effective drawing card of the season in Chicago. Seats were purchased four weeks in advance and the receipts exceeding even those of "King Dodo" the merry "Sultan's" predecessor.

The immense Chicago success determined Mr. Savage on giving "The Sultan" a New York hearing at his earliest convenience and the sparkling entertainment is now on a brief tour leading up to its Broadway production. The company has been improved and a number of new songs have been added to the tuneful score, and several thousand dollars additional expended for new costumes.

Eighty people with a celebrated cast including Frank Moulan in his original role of Ki-Ran of last year's "King Dodo," Robert Lett, Fred Firar, Blanche Chapman, Charles Gilyan and a host of others.

DRUNKS ARE FINED BY JUDGE FIFIELD

Monday Morning Is the Busy Time in the Municipal Court Room.

Judge Fifield had the usual Monday grist of jag judgments to grind out yesterday morning. Nine in all succumbed to the influences of the cheering drop, and showed up in the morning repentant, and reiterating their determination never to do it again; all except Patsy Griffin. He had been up too often before and he knew that protestations were of no avail.

It was only six days since "Patsy" was last up, and although he signed the pledge at that time, he had yielded once more, and was taken in to custody Sunday afternoon. He had not yet recovered when he was brought up yesterday, and he could only smile pleasantly in response to Judge Fifield's "Same old story, Seven Fine."

Under the circumstances His Honor decided that the only course to take was to have Mr. Griffin locked up, far away from all intoxicants, until he should be thoroughly dried out. Accordingly a judgment was given of five days of hard labor, and a fine of ten dollars and costs. In default of payment of the latter he will be confined until the fine is paid, not to exceed thirty days.

Miscellaneous Judgments
Four dollars and costs, or ten days in jail was meted out to William Lepide, James Irwin and William Tilton. Otis Walkley was given four dollars and costs or fifteen days, and John Kendrick three dollars and costs or ten days, and John Strauss two dollars and costs or eight days.

Had no Money
Strauss was the only one in the entire number who had the cash to settle. He did so and was released, while the rest began their search for a few dollars to keep them from prison fare.

REGULAR SESSION OF SCHOOL BOARD

Evening Was Devoted to Discussion of Important Questions Concerning the Schools.

All of the school commissioners, with the exception of Commissioner Rudolph, were present at the monthly meeting of the board of education held in their room at the High school building last evening. Considerable business of importance was discussed although but little definite action was taken. A batch of bills were allowed and ordered paid.

On motion of Commissioner Milmore, the grounds of the Adams building were ordered graded and seeded and the building of new fences wherever needed was authorized.

Supt. H. C. Buell made a report to the effect that more typewriters are needed at the High school to accommodate the students in the typewriting classes. He also reported the propositions made by the different manufacturers and the board voted to leave the purchase of the necessary machines entirely to the superintendent.

Substitute Teachers
The matter of substitute teachers and the question as to whether the teachers should be charged with the time lost in case of sickness or death in the family were also brought up by Supt. Buell and after considerable discussion the board voted to decide on the individual cases as they should occur.

On motion, the purchase of books needed in the different departments was left to Supt. Buell and the text book committee.

Want Higher Salaries
The question of increasing the salary of some of the janitors was brought up by Commissioner Milmore and referred to the committee on heating and ventilation. The question of an increase of salary for some of the principals was left to the committee on teachers to decide, after which the board adjourned.

HELPFUL SERVICE AT MEN'S MEETING

Plan Being Followed Now Will Doubtless Lead to a More General Attendance.

It has been a long time since so successful a meeting has been held in the Y. M. C. A. building under the auspices of the association as that Sunday afternoon. The numbers were, if anything, a little smaller than usual, but the general style of handling the subject, and the spirit that actuated the speakers and the listeners was more nearly what those who have the meetings in charge were looking for than at any service in many days.

Forgotten advantages
J. A. Craig was the chairman of the meeting, the subject of which was "Some Forgotten Advantages." After a few preliminary remarks by Mr. Craig, Marshall P. Richardson addressed the men who were present. His talk was practical and to the point, made more powerful by the earnestness of the speaker.

It is hoped that the attendances of these meetings will be increased until the committee will feel that they are better repaid for their exertions in planning the subjects. Mr. Craig, who is the chairman of the Sunday afternoon meetings, feels that the objects should be to make the sessions interesting and profitable to the average business man, rather than to the profound bible student.

A Practical Address
Those who heard the talk Sunday believed that Mr. Richardson succeeded admirably in attaining to that aim. It is not felt, however, that enough men show an interest in these meetings to make them the success that they might be.

An orchestra of several pieces enhanced the musical part of the service. It is several weeks since they last played, and their return was gladly remarked by those who heard them.

WILL ATTEND CLINIC

Dr. Fiffeld Will See the Famous Dr. Lorenz Perform Wonders.

Dr. G. W. Fiffeld went to Chicago yesterday to attend a private clinic for the alumni of the North-Western University College of Medicine. The inauguration of President James is now in progress and the clinic is really a part of the general exercises at this time. The inaugural began Sunday and will close Tuesday evening.

Dr. Lorenz, the celebrated physician of Vienna, will conduct the clinic. His last public clinic has been ended and this is restricted to North-Western "old grads." Dr. Fiffeld expects to stay through the inaugural addresses of his alma mater.

Valvular Disease of the Heart
It is a well-known fact that a valvular affection of the heart, either insufficiency or stenosis, is an incurable disease for the reason that no human skill or science can make a new valve.

It is my purpose, however, in this short article to illustrate by a few cases that have been under my observation and care that if it cannot be cured a great many of the distressing symptoms that accompany it can be alleviated.

Some of the sequelae of a valvular heart are underfilled arteries and overfilled veins, causing not only a malnutrition but oedema of the hands, feet and abdomen, and from reflex irritation affections of other organs, such as the stomach, kidney and bladder and other abdominal viscera, also the lungs from which may arise asthmatic and bronchial affections.

Case No. 1.—Lady, aged 40, with valvular disease of twelve years' standing, very frail and emaciated and subject to frequent asthmatic attacks. Marked oedema of limbs and abdomen and occasional attacks of cystitis. Was called to see patient when she was at her worst. Had been suffering from severe bronchial asthma for three weeks. She had not been able to sleep but a few minutes at a time and then could not lie down at all. Her cough was something frightful and seemed to hack her body throughout. Each paroxysm looked as though it would be her last.

I found much contraction of lower cervical and upper dorsal muscles and all upper ribs drawn tight. I was almost afraid to touch her, she was so frail looking, but began by inhaling lightly in neck and upper dorsal regions; gave treatment to abdominal viscera and to circulation in extremities. The asthma was conquered in a few treatments and the severity of cough in a few more. The swelling of abdomen and limbs was reduced entirely and has remained so. The cough has been very slight since.

This was in January last and she has been in better general health all summer than in many years. She has been able to go out more and her condition has been, for her, very comfortable.

The Other One

There is the man behind the counter and the man behind the gun, the man behind the buzz saw and the man behind his son; the man behind the times and the man behind the ploughshare and the man behind the fence; and the man behind the whistle and the man behind the bars, and the man behind the kodak and the man behind the cars; the man behind his whiskers and the man behind his fist, and everything behind a thing is entered on this list. But they have slipped another fellow of whom nothing has been said—the fellow who is who pays for what he gets and whose bill is always signed—he's blame sight more important than the man who is behind; all we newspaper people and merchants and the whole commercial clan are indebted for existence to this honest, noble man; he keeps us all in business, and his town is never dead—and so you will take your hat off to the man who is ahead.—Exchange.

We sat at the table together. She cast a shy glance over at me. She certainly looked like an angel. Oh, Charley! Please order me Rocky Mountain Tea. Smith's Pharmacy.

There are Reasons

There are reasons for advertising which every business man must learn for himself. The first and foremost is that it pays to advertise if the written and published message says something which will prove of value to the one who is expected to pay cash for what is offered. Every business establishment has something to offer which will prove of interest to some one who needs that something, and who can get it at no other places as well, but who comes to a given place because the message of the proprietor was strong enough to make the individual feel a interest in the goods.—Ad Art.

MINERS LISTEN TO PEACE TERMS

HITCH IN THE PROCEEDINGS

Engineers and Firemen Want to Know Where They Will Stand When the Others Return to Work in the Anthracite Coal Fields.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 21.—While the American public, which anxiously hoped the deliberations of the mine workers' convention that opened in this city yesterday would send forth before nightfall a message that the five months' warfare was at an end, is doomed to disappointment, there is ground for belief that the glad tidings is only delayed and that today's suit will set on undisturbed peace, established in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania. Not a temporary truce, but an armistice that shall last for an age, and mark the beginning of a new era of mutual confidence and co-operation between miner and operator.

Demand a Guarantee.

The wave of enthusiasm that swept over the convention when President Mitchell finished his address seemed to bode speedily and unopposed action on the recommendation contained therein—the endorsement of the arbitration proposition. Hardly had the sound of his voice died away before it became evident that such ending of the deliberations would not be accomplished without a hard fight on the point in dispute—what the status of the engineers and firemen will be with the operators after resumption of work. Several delegates insisted that the convention should be given a guarantee that all miners would be given their old positions. Mitchell told them that could not be done.

Distrust Operators.

In every step President Mitchell has taken he has had the support and confidence of the anthracite miners in unlimited measure. Hence it was a surprise to many when he was unable to bend the convention to his will, as portrayed not only in his opening address but in the extensive remarks he subsequently made in response to a request from a delegate upon the attitude of the companies on the point in dispute. This, it developed, was not due to any lessening of confidence in their leader, but to the distrust of the operators, for which the miners justify themselves by saying that it is born of bitter experience.

Affected Districts.

The opposition comes from districts 1 and 9. In No. 7 not 1 per cent of the engineers and firemen are affected, as the majority of the collieries shut down absolutely when the strike was declared, and so there are few non-union men to be displaced when the miners come back.

The combined voting strength of districts 1 and 9 is five times that of district 7, which is taking no hand in the controversy. The conservative element, however, has hardly had a hearing, and, besides, much rests upon the manner in which the resolutions committee will treat the matter in its report, and upon which the members will have the advice and co-operation of President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson.

May Resume Work Thursday.

As it will have to be thrashed out on the floor of the house, it is the general belief that in the summing up conservatism will win and that Thursday at the latest will see the miners back to work.

An army invader Wilkesbarre, but the invaders did not come armed. They came to sign a peace protocol, and were received with open arms. The presence of so many strangers within the town's gates meant much to the people of the ten anthracite coal counties of the state and the consumers of hard coal the country over.

Mitchell Their Idol.

The last act was about to be enacted in the long struggle between the coal operators and their 147,000 employees.

The miners did not come here with heavy hearts. On the contrary, they were in buoyant spirits, free from care, and ready to cheer for John Mitchell at the slightest provocation. What the fruit of the victory will be is not known as yet, but the miners look upon the action of the operators in consenting to arbitration as a great victory in itself.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Janesville. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness, you cannot ask for better proof than such a conclusive evidence.

The secretions from those organs were greatly disordered, annoyed me much at night and I seemed to have limited control of them. After finishing the treatment my kidneys could sleep all night without being disturbed. I am better now than I have been for years and give all credit to Doan's Kidney Pills for bringing about the result."

COMMON INTERESTS

"All Americans are in partnership with each other. Their foreign trade is, comparatively speaking, in volume and value greatly inferior to the domestic trade. The total carrying capacity of all the vessels entered and cleared from American ports during the year 1896-7, in the foreign trade, was less than 28,000,000 tons. The amount of freight carried by the railroads of the United States in 1896 was 462,000,000 tons. Unless it be true that a Western farmer receives a hundred dollars for as many bushels of wheat, he makes more money if the wheat is to go to Liverpool than if it is to make bread for a New England community, then the real value of domestic trade and its efficiency in increasing the wealth of the country are from fifteen to twenty times as great as are the value and efficiency of the foreign trade. A law to help the domestic trade is fifteen times as useful as a law to foster foreign trade; and any law that promotes foreign trade at the expense of the home markets is the height of un wisdom."

This sentiment was expressed in 1888, by Edward Stanwood, editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser and secretary of the Artwright club. It was during the period of tariff discussion, when arguments were being used in favor of reduction on the ground that the farmers of the western states were only protected on three or four articles, while the manufacturers of New England were protected at every point. Mr. Stanwood was pleading for the home market. He stated that New England, with a population of only 5,000,000 consumed in American goods:

Of cotton	$70,000,000
Food	90,000,000
Coal	50,000,000
Wool	50,000,000
Hides	20,000,000
Petroleum, lumber, iron, salt, crockery, and glass tobacco, spirits, wine, beer, etc., not less than	30,000,000

Or a total of.....$310,000,000
And an average of $62 to each person, nearly six times the average of each person in Great Britain, and in the aggregate only fifty millions less than the whole value of British purchases.

The figures would be larger today. And though New England agriculture has improved and is prosperous, Mr. Stanwood's statement below, of the dependence of this section on others, is as true today as it was fourteen years ago. He said:

"These states produce and can produce but an inconsiderable part of the food, other vegetable or animal, which they need and use. They do not and cannot produce the raw material of the clothing, hats or boots, which their people must wear. Although out of the 1,572,131 persons returned as engaged in mechanical and manufacturing industry, they obtain from their own resources neither the raw material, nor the iron for their machinery, nor the fuel which makes steam for that machinery, and which warms them through their long and bleak winters. There is no agricultural production of any part of the country for which they are not, in proportion to their numbers, the best customers. They buy and consume in their manufacturing one-half of the domestic wool crop and one-fourth of the cotton crop. They go to Pennsylvania and the neighboring states for their coal and iron, to the south for their tobacco and cotton, to the middle west for Indian corn and hides, to Michigan for their lumber. There is no state or part of a state that does not find employment for a considerable fraction of its population in producing that which New England needs to buy."

The spirit of unrest that prevails today, on the tariff question, is largely confined to the west, and notwithstanding the fact that the crops are abundant and prices good, more or less jealously exists, and the feeling is all too common, that manufacturers and transportation companies are altogether too prosperous, because of protection furnished to American industries.

The spirit is inspired by ignorance, and is encouraged by the democratic party in hope of political gain. How any intelligent citizen can entertain it and be influenced by it, is difficult to explain.

New England and the west are as closely allied in business interests, as they would be if the compact was made binding by a strident of partnership agreement. Any effort to disturb these interests is foolhardy in the extreme.

A merchant who would say to a best customer on his books, "We don't want your trade, as we prefer to see our goods in a foreign market," would be called an imbecile.

Prosperity, generally distributed as it is today, creates a home market for 95 per cent. of all our products. What more could be asked?

It is a good time to keep busy. There will be plenty of time to tinker with the tariff, when business takes another vacation similar to the one it enjoyed a few years ago.

PROSPERITY POINTERS

"It behooves every American citizen to bear constantly in mind that, whatever may be said and printed to deceive and mislead him, 'prosperity' is the issue." The question for him to consider is whether, when he goes to the polls to cast his vote for congressman this fall, and again two years hence when he will vote for presidential electors and congressmen he will cast his ballot for the maintenance of the conditions that prevail, or for a relapse in the conditions under which he suffered from 1892 until 1896; whether he will let alone what is certainly well enough or help to bring about a change that must inevitably be for the worse. "Albany Journal."

The Journal has stated the one and only issue of the present campaign. Every republican knows that the reins of national government are safer in the hands of the republican party, than any other, and every thinking republican realizes that the party cannot be hampered by democratic success in either the upper or lower house of congress.

A great deal of discussion is going on just now about state issues, and the governor is wasting time and energy in travelling over the state discussing the tax question and primary law. If these are issues, they are so insignificant compared to the one great issue of national prosperity, that they sink in oblivion.

Every tax payer of whatever political faith, believes in the equalization of taxes. The most of them have discovered by experience—a fact the governor fails to realize—that the consumer pays the freight, which carried to its natural conclusion means, that when $600,000 is added to rail road corporation taxes that the people pay the bill.

It is simply another way of whipping the devil around the stump, and while it sounds like reform with a large R there is nothing to it. The railroads should pay their share of taxes. No more, no less. What this share is can only be determined when a fair apportionment covers all classes of prosperity.

So far as a primary law is concerned it is not entitled to the dignity of the title, "An Issue." The voters of the state are a unit in believing that the caucus laws need amending, and the primaries purified and made more wholesome. This would have been done at the last session of the legislature if the governor had not stood as a stone wall between nothing and his erratic demands for the Stevens bill.

The next legislature will accomplish something along this line, but the measure of reform will not be governed by the dictation of the chief executive.

So far as the factional fight in the republican party is concerned, Senator Spooner seems to have decided that it is good political policy for the lambs to get into the fold and lie down with the lion. From a purely political standpoint his advice is good, and as the fight was made for the senator, many of the lambs will doubtless follow it.

To say that harmony exists in the party is a travesty on the name. The great overshadowing issue of prosperity will govern prejudice and will cause many men to swallow a grievance which is in no sense imaginary. The governor will owe his reelection to loyalty to the great principles of the republican party, but his majority will not be occasion for self-congratulation.

SENATOR SPOONER

The old saying that a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, does not hold good, so far as Senator Spooner is concerned. The ovations tendered wherever he has appeared in the state indicate that his home constituency fully appreciates the honor conferred by an able and popular representative.

The effort to humiliate the senator at the Madison convention, was rebuffed so strenuously that the participants in the disagreeable proceedings speedily realized that they had made a mistake, and from one end of the state to the other he is recognized as the leading statesman and one of the few great men of his generation.

Rock county has always had a high regard for Senator Spooner and the meeting tonight will evidence the feeling that prevails. It is to be regretted that a hall is not available to accommodate the crowd that would be pleased to hear him. After taxing the opera house to its capacity, more people will be turned away than can gain admission. His friends are coming from all parts of the county, and the meeting will be the most enthusiastic of the campaign.

Next to the president there is no American in public life today who rivals Senator Spooner in statesmanship, or ability to cope with great national or international issues. Any state in the union has occasion to be proud of a man whom the nation honors, and Wisconsin is not slow in appreciation.

Edward Atkinson, of Boston, the man who discovered how to live on ten cents a day, is out with a formula on corn stalk fuel. According to the enthusiastic professor, a ton of stalks is equal to two tons of anthracite coal. If this thing goes on the coal fields won't be worth operating. Bricks, peat, and corn fodder, with plenty of exercise, ought to keep any family from freezing.

Senator Billy Mason of Illinois is running a little campaign on his own account. The state central committee had no use for his services, and he is now trying to discover where he is at. It is safe to say that he has served his one and only term in the senate.

A line of thorough sleepers between Detroit and Cleveland, a distance of 173 miles, is the latest trolley line innovation. Thirty-five miles an hour and no smoke means rivalry for the steam roads. The electric road has come to stay.

The second Elijah is having all sorts of trouble with his creditors. He should appoint a financial agent. Dowle commenced a little late in history to make a first class prophet.

The democratic state central committee is flooding the state with all sorts of book scandal literature. It is a little difficult to fight when the party on the defensive has nothing to say.

Hard coal jewelry will cease to be a luxury, after the mines are pumped out, and work resumed.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Madison State: Rose is interesting and entertaining, but he is not substantial or impressive.

Stoughton Courier: Many democrats are now loud in their praise for La Follette since the speech of Monday.

Marquette Star: Ellis Usher gets off a dry one when he refers to Dave Rose as the eleventh floor's "only remaining asset."

Racine Journal: Wisconsin wants to elect a republican governor, a republican legislature, and a full roster of republican congressmen.

Hudson Star-Times: Spooner and Quarles and La Follette say vote the entire republican ticket on the 4th of next November. What say you?

Madison Democrat: The Indiana physician who claims that he can bring back the dead may try his hand on the silver issue.

Marquette Eagle: Republican principals reach farther and deeper than any man or set of men, therefore should be supported by all citizens.

Madison Journal: The coal strike is ended, but we still have to warm ourselves upon hope for a few months until the shipments of anthracite coal begins to come westward.

Marquette Star: The protective tariff is all that now prevents the formation of international trusts that would reduce the American workman to the level of the pauper laborer of Europe.

Oshkosh Times: If Senator Spooner doesn't want to be senator again why does he take such bitter medicine as the swallowing of La Follette involves, and which Mr. Payne was administered apparently without compunction?

Atlanta Journal: There are 30,000 more divorced women in the United States, according to the latest official figures, than divorced men. The statistics put it 84,000 divorced men and 114,000 divorced women. The discrepancy is probably accounted for by the fact that women know enough not to go near the fire again.

LADIES INVADE BOWLING ALLEYS

YOUNG LADIES' CLUB WILL PLAY
DURING WINTER.

HESITATED TO ENTER ALLEYS

New to Game, But Bowled Good Scores—Hockett's Given Up to Them Every Tuesday.

At short intervals this morning a number of young ladies, singly and in small groups walked hesitantly up North Main street to the Hockett alleys, stopped and peered in the windows at the men and the billiard tables within, and walked past and then returned and did the same thing over again. A few bolder spirits stopped and tried the door leading to the apartments overhead, but not one went directly to the right door. One of them walked three times past the door before she finally summoned courage to enquire at the front entrance where Mr. Hockett's bowling alleys were located.

Young Ladies Will Bowl
Tuesday morning has been reserved at the Hockett alleys for a dozen young ladies who have organized a bowling club to meet once a week during the winter, the first session being held today. No definite organization has been arrived at as yet, save to elect Miss Helen Nash, treasurer. Whether a name for the club and other officers will be fixed upon later remains to be seen.

New To Game
With the exception of two or three of their number, the young ladies who met this morning were as ignorant of the game as they were of the exact location of the alleys on which they were to play. But as to the exact number of balls thrown which never reached their destination, and the feminine substitutes employed for the masculine expletives common on the alleys to soothe sore fingers and aching thumbs, no one knows save Mr. Hockett and the pin-setters. It is understood that they are sworn to secrecy.

Did Very Well
Nevertheless some really creditable scores were bowled this morning when everything is considered. Perhaps it would be kinder not to mention the low score, but $9 was high, and the same young lady also ran up an $7 tally on the tenth frame in a later game.

It may be that at a later date the young ladies may compete for championship honors, but at present they express themselves as satisfied to be able to do as best they can individually without attempting to surpass anyone else.

Visitors Coldly Received
On the mornings which are set aside for the use of this latest organization in the Janesville world of finger ball devotees, Mr. Hockett will establish a strict quarantine about the alleys and all visitors will be warned that approach is dangerous.

LAST RITES SAID FOR MRS. CHENEY

Impressive Services Held From the Home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W.
Lowell Today.

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Mary L. Cheney was tenderly laid at rest in the cemetery at Emerald Grove this afternoon at the close of the impressive services which were held from the home of the bereaved daughter, Mrs. E. W. Lowell, corner of North High and Ravine streets at 1:30 o'clock. The home was filled with sorrowing friends who had known and loved Mrs. Cheney during her life and a wealth of choice flowers spoke beautifully of the esteem in which she was held.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Robert C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church, assisted by the Rev. J. H. Tippet, pastor of the Court Street M. E. church, who offered the prayer, and by Rev. H. W. Carter of Beloit, who made eloquent and touching remarks on the beautiful life just closed. The song service was beautifully rendered by the ladies' quartet from the Congregational church choir, including Mesdames A. O. Wilson, Minnie Menzies and S. B. Lewis and Miss Franc Edwards.

The remains were taken to the Emerald Grove cemetery for burial, the pall bearers being J. T. Wright, David Jeffris, A. E. Matheson, E. Heller, W. T. Mayhew and W. S. Jeffris. Among those who attended the funeral from out of the city were Rev. and Mrs. B. R. Cheney, Miss May Elise Cheney and Rev. H. W. Carter of Beloit; Miss Della Cheney, Mrs. Mary Scott, Miss Eda Scott, Mrs. Alice Inman and Mrs. Ellis, of Clinton; and Mrs. Mary Cheney, of Endeavor, Wis.

Denies Marriage
Mr. Charles Shaeffer came to the Gazette office this afternoon and emphatically denied that he was married to Miss Mamie London last November or in fact is married to Miss London at all. The Gazette received the information from what was considered a reliable source and published it in good faith. Mr. Shaeffer's denial should settle the question and he should still be counted among the bachelors.

SENIOR SENATOR SPEAKS IN THE CITY THIS EVENING.

RECEPTION AT MYERS HOUSE

Will Be Escorted from Fathers Residence by the Christ Church Cadets.

United States Senator John C. Spooner has arrived in the city. He came in most unostentatiously on the four five train and was met by a few of the leading citizens and escorted to the home of Ogden H. Fetters. Here he will dine and at a quarter of seven will start for the Myers House, escorted by the Christ Church cadets, some thirty-five strong, with two buglers.

S. A. COOPER WEDS MISS ANNA ATWOOD

Marriage of Well Known People Solemnized Quietly at Trinity Church This Afternoon.

Miss Anna Eliza Atwood and Samuel Arthur Cooper were happily married this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the ceremony being performed at Trinity church, w. Rev. J. A. M. Richey, rector of the church, as officiating clergyman. Owing to the recent death of the bride's mother, the wedding was a very quiet one, only the necessary witnesses being present. The usual five days publicity required by the license law was avoided by a special court permit.

Both the bride and the groom are very well known in this city and both have many friends who will extend their heartiest congratulations and best wishes. The bride is a daughter of Volney Atwood, and is a happy possessor of those womanly qualities which fit her admirably to preside over a home. The groom is an industrious and energetic young man of irreproachable habits and excellent character. He is employed as a compositor in the job office of the Gazette Printing company and enjoys the confidence and high esteem of his associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper have taken no wedding trip, but after the ceremony returned immediately to the residence of the bride's father, 51 South Franklin street, with whom they will make their home. Many friends will join in wishing them every happiness and prosperity.

Rowley-Carle

Carle of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Annie Rowley of Hillsboro, Wis., on last Sunday, the wedding taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowley, in Hillsboro, at 12:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Stark, pastor of the Congregational church, and was witnessed by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. An elegant wedding dinner followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Carle arrived in this city on Sunday evening and received a cordial welcome from their friends, a reception being given in their honor at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Carle, 155 Glen street. Heartily congratulations were extended and a very tempting luncheon was prettily served by Mrs. J. F. Carle and Mrs. William Winbiger. The newly married couple start out on their life together with the best wishes of a host of friends. The bride is no stranger in the city, having visited frequently at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Baker. During her visits she has won a high place in the esteem of those who have become acquainted with her. The groom is proprietor of the Second Ward grocery and is a young man of sterling worth and genial disposition. He and his bride will be at home at 53 Caroline street after November first.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER

There is considerable talk of late regarding a more liberal inspection of corn by the State Grain Inspection Department. Influential people have approached the chief inspector and his chief assistants with the complaint that at present the inspection is too severe, that the grade of No. 2 has been raised until the only corn that is passed as No. 2 is really of such an excellent quality that it should be graded No. 1. The rule giving the requirements of No. 2 corn reads: "No. 2 corn shall be dry, reasonably clean," etc. You will note that it does not read "reasonably dry." "Dry" is not modified, I had occasion to make a flight on just this point. In accepting No. 2 corn in fulfillment of contracts, I insisted that the corn must be "dry." The receiving houses made a protest to the railroad and warehouse commissioners, and the inspection department was apparently influenced as the proportion of contract corn in the daily receipts increased from about 10 per cent to over 50 per cent. Right here I want to say no corn was at that time passed as No. 2 that was ever refused as No. 2 by any one who bought it to ship. It kept in good condition and all went out of store without protest.

It seems to be a fact that when our corn market is manipulated and our "cash future" is forced to an unnatural premium over deferred futures, the inspection becomes more rigid. When everything is natural the lines are not so tightly drawn. The reason for this, I believe, is that the inspector fears his work may be criticised and he sticks to the letter of the rule. He knows that the consignee can ask for re-inspection by his superior, who will change the grade if he has been too severe, and falling here, there is still recourse to the Appeals committee. But I know this: When the corn has once been graded No. 3 the first assistant inspector looks for the track (second assistant) inspector's reason for making it No. 3, and can generally find it. In other words, his attention is called to defects that ordinarily would be passed over, and which really should be passed over.

With the fear of manipulation ever present, the handlers of corn at country stations everywhere over the corn belt hesitate to "hedge" purchases of new corn with sales of December. It has so reduced the amount of trading in this future as to make it possible for one or a few moneyed men to force the price to a big premium over May. The new corn everywhere will be moved on a basis of the May price, and hedges are and will continue if nothing can be done to remedy it.

This reduces the operations in the December to the purely speculative and gives us an unhealthy condition. There is entirely too much of a gambling nature to each operation and the best interests of the Board of Trade and of the grain handlers everywhere are not best subserved by permitting this condition to continue if anything can be done to remedy it.

Thousands of cars of corn every year graded as No. 3 and put into store during the winter months, go out in the spring at the same price as No. 2, and fill every requirement of No. 2. The corn is shipped to foreign countries, and arrives at its destination in good condition. Consumers here and abroad pay no premium for No. 2 corn. The No. 3 seems to be the commercial grade. This is true, and I believe thousands of cars of corn every winter graded No. 3 could and should be graded No. 2.

At once the bull will say that this would put a club into the hands of the short seller and would result in lower corn prices. Temporarily, it might, just for a week or so, but I believe nothing would redound so much to the benefit of corn prices as a healthy corn market. We will find the word "corn" will mean "value." The crop may be 2,500,000,000 bu; we will convert it into beef, pork and a hundred other things. We do not need "contract" corn to make corn bring its worth. In absence of determined manipulation every run of contract corn would break prices. Where a run of contract corn is not feared, legitimate conditions will govern, and I believe every grain grower in the country is willing and anxious to see legitimate conditions govern. American farmers have faith in the future of corn. Every bushel of corn in the country should share in any advance, whether it happens to be contract grade at Chicago or in the shape of hogs or cattle in the country.

I look for a considerable portion of this crop to be moved at present or lower prices, but the price of this crop of corn will (it is my opinion) average much better than any large crop ever before raised in this country. Yours truly, Geo. H. Phillips.

Pretty

Is an adjective which seems to have become monopolized by the young lady at the typewriter. It is astonishing what an array of beautiful women are found in stores and offices. In fact, the typical American beauty will be found sitting at the typewriter rather than loitering in a carriage in the park.

And yet this pretty young girl needs always to be reminded that "beauty is only skin deep," unless it roots in health. When the health is undermined by womanly diseases, the luster soon passes from the eyes, the cheeks grow thin, the body loses its plumpness. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures diseases which weaken women and which destroy their strength and beauty. It establishes regularity, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Several years ago I suffered severely from female weakness, prolapsus and menorrhagia, and used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with splendid effect," writes Fannie Shelton, of Washington, Iowa. "Glad I have not needed it for a few years past, but if I should ever have any return of the old trouble would surely try 'Favorite Prescription.' I have recommended it to a number of my lady friends. I always tell them to try a bottle, and if they are not benefited by it I will pay for the medicine. In every case they have spoken in praise of it."

"Do you suppose your Vinol would do me any good?" said a woman customer the other day. "I just drag round. My work seems an awful burden." "I think Vinol will help you," said our clerk. "Our folks at home use it. We have such faith in it that we will pay the money back if it doesn't help you."

She took a bottle of Vinol home and has since bought another bottle.

Vinol was sold last year on the same guarantee. How many "refunds" were there, do you think? Less than two per cent.

In other words, Vinol did successful work in ninety-eight cases out of 100.

For two great classes, those who can't seem to gain strength, and those who are tired at nothing, we say: "Try Vinol on our guarantee."

Springfield Postmaster Advised to Avoid Political Meetings.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Acting Postmaster General Wynne has notified Postmaster L. S. Wheeler at Springfield, Ill., that it would be inappropriate for him to preside at a political meeting. Postmaster Wheeler wrote to the department and also to the civil service commission, asking if he would be disregarding the rules to take such part in the political campaign, and while it would not be so regarded it was considered advisable that postmasters should confine their political efforts to their individual work and not bring their official positions into prominence by presiding either at conventions or public meetings of a partisan character.

SHORT NEWS NOTES

Want More Names: As soon as a few more names have been received of those wishing to take them the Young Men's Christian association's classes in mechanical drawings, penmanship, vocal music, and bookkeeping will be opened. It was thought some time ago, that it would be possible to commence at once, but after the very first names have not come in so rapidly. All preparations have been made to start as soon as the necessary students arrive.

Free Lecture: Dr. W. P. Roberts will give a free lecture on the Wisconsin Health Park in the lecture room of the Congregational church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The lecture will be illustrated by stereoscopic views and the public is cordially invited to be present. The project of a state health park is receiving considerable attention all over the state and an association with headquarters at Madison, has been organized for its promotion.

Benefit Dance: Tomorrow evening a dance for the benefit of the striking miners in the Pennsylvania anthracite coal fields will be given at Assembly hall under the auspices of the Trades Council. Baldwin & Rehfeld will furnish the inspiration for the dance and the music, as well as all other expenses has been donated. A good time is assured all who attend and they will have the additional satisfaction of assisting in a worthy cause.

That Balty Goat: Considerable amusement was occasioned yesterday afternoon by a balky goat of a snow white color which was being led across Main street. It displayed all of the tactics of an inveterate balky horse, turning backward, and standing stock still, using besides a few stunts that were all its own. Finally its owner took the stubborn little animal in his arms, and when last seen he was still carrying it up the street.

Special Church Services: Father Hughson, of the Episcopal order of the Holy Cross, is in the city and this evening at 7:30 o'clock he will conduct a short meeting in Trinity church for the purpose of giving some instructions preparatory to the mission to be held in this city in January. On tomorrow evening a similar meeting will be held in Christ church. Holy communion was celebrated at Trinity church this morning at 7:30 by Father Hughson and will be celebrated again tomorrow morning at the same time and place.

Class is Growing: F. F. Lewis' Sunday Bible class at the Young Men's Christian association has been gaining in attendance from Sunday to Sunday. Mr. Lewis is now on his fifth year as leader of these classes, and while the attendance has not been large, the members have maintained their interest. This is largely due to Mr. Lewis' habit of keeping away from the commentary and concordance style of study, and confining the discussion to practical thoughts on the topic.

Date is Set: October 27 is the date decided upon in Justice Earles court yesterday morning for a further hearing of the case of Martha A. Brownell as administratrix of the estate of J. C. Brownell, against C. H. Stone. Judgment was given for $107.46 for the La Crosse Steel Roofing Corrugating company against Lewis Larsen and Joseph Maltress. The case of Ralph B. Whitte and William D. Whitte against the Hansen Furniture company, was adjourned to November 7.

Episcopal Church Mission: A mission under the auspices of the Fathers of the Order of the Holy Cross, Rev. J. O. S. Huntington, superior, is to be held in the Episcopal churches in Janesville beginning on Friday, January 23, 1903. A short service for the members, both of Trinity and Christ churches, who are interested in the mission will be held in Trinity church this evening at 7: o'clock and the Rev. Father S. C. Hughson will preach. This union service will be held in place of the two services originally announced.

PRESS COMMENT.

Waupaca Post: David Rose is in it, Patsy?

Whitewater Register: Why was the money which the bookmen admit that they paid and which Kronsback said he sent to the governor's personal secretary, not sent to Gen. Bryant chairman of the state central committee?

Chicago Daily News: J. Pierpont Morgan's Corsair is the low, rakish craft which has kept people guessing through the successive chapters of that great mystery story, "Ending the Coal Strike."

Minneapolis Times: This country is liable to learn a whole lot about fuel before the winter is over, and the knowledge acquired will not be to the advantage of the anthracite trust.

Detroit Free Press: One of the things the doctors are called upon to explain is that the average deer hunter never seems to have buck fever when he is shooting at a companion in the brush.

still talking about the Frost mortgage bill and the game wardens. His ability to dodge the real questions of the campaign is only equalled by his unflinching call in thinking that the people of Wisconsin want him for governor.

Neenah News: After election, Mayor Rose will have plenty of time in which to post himself on the manner in which game wardens are paid and a few other things. Just at present he is entirely too busy to pay any attention to facts.

Ashland Press: At last the democrats are waking up to the fact that the republicans of Wisconsin will vote the republican ticket this fall. The only doubt that has ever existed on this point has been in the minds of the democrats themselves.

Milwaukee Sentinel: With such exponents or republican principles as Senators Quarles and Spooner on the stump there is no danger that the principles of the party will be lost to sight or obscured by anything that is of lesser moment.

Oshkosh Times: George Angus Buckstaff, of this city, says the governor's denial goes, and he has nothing more to say about the Harvey matter. Which in effect means that when a man is in politics he has to do a great many things he wouldn't do under ordinary circumstances.

Eau Claire Leader: The outside world will be able to form an idea of the remarkable growth of northern Wisconsin when it learns that the town of Frederic in Polk county started only nine months ago has already a five thousand dollar school house under construction. Jim Falls on the lordy Chippewa was only located a few days ago and already of the Grand Opera house.

Prairie du Chien Courier: The writer had occasion to take a railroad trip a day or two ago and came home surprised at the way the railroad people had fallen into line for Mayor Rose for governor. He will get the solid railroad vote, and that, with the other numerous accessions, will bring him in under the wire with flying colors.

Die Germania, Milwaukee: Mr. La Follette seems to be gradually coming to the point where we should be glad to see him, as indicated in his speech at Fond du Lac. If he will open his heart a little further, now, and come out squarely for the re-election of Spooner, without conditions of any kind, everything will be lovely.

TREMBLING VENICE.

Other Historic Structures May Follow the Campanile.

Following the fall of the bell tower of the famous St. Mark's church comes the information that other historic structures in Venice show a weakness of foundation that is alarming not only to the citizens of the "Queen of the Adriatic," but to the whole civilized world.

Now that the campanile lies in ruins it is asserted that another famous building, the Church of Santi Giovanni e Paolo, shows signs of settling and possible destruction.

The Church of St. John and St. Paul, popularly called San Zanipolo, contains the statues of many doges and other illustrious persons, and its destruction would be little short of a calamity.

The campanile, the bell tower of St. Mark's, now a heap of ruins, was where Galilei made his observations. It was 323 feet high and 42 feet square at the base. The heap of ruins which covers the Sansovino terrace is about 100 feet high.

Papa and Mamma Fix It.

In Hindostan the arrangements for a wedding are made by the parents of the bride and bridegroom, who, when the alliance is agreed upon very likely behold one another for the first time. Then there is no appearance of reluctance about the bride, who playfully skips toward her future husband and seats herself beside him. The priest's part is to tie a corner of the bride's veil to the bridegroom's shawl, and this simple proceeding makes them legally husband and wife.

Winning a Bride.

The saving of a young woman's life won a bride for William Sayres of Wilkesbarre, Pa. He detected Lillian May in the act of climbing over the railing of a bridge to throw herself into the river below. He caught her in his arms just as she was about to jump. The young woman insisted that she wanted to die but Sayres pleaded with her and in less than a week they were engaged. A few days later the marriage ceremony took place.

Proctor Knott Named Town.

Proctor Knott, Minnesota, is a town which recalls Proctor Knott of Kentucky, and his famous Duluth speech of twenty-five years ago, in which he asked where and what Duluth was. This speech, though intended to cast ridicule on an item in an internal improvement bill in congress, in the early seventies, was afterward printed as a "boom" leaflet by Duluthians, and now they have named a small city for him also.

Odd Cure for Deafness. One of the most singular cures for deafness ever recorded is quoted by the Independence Belge from the Dutch papers. An old man of seventy, living at Krommeme, who had been deaf for twenty years, got involved in a dispute with some neighbors, and became literally transported with rage. In this semi-demented state he suddenly recovered his hearing, which he has retained ever since.

Good Life-Saving Apparatus.

An Austrian army officer has exhibited in New York a novel life-saving apparatus which is said to have been adopted for army and navy use in several foreign countries to prevent danger of drowning. It is about the size and shape of an ordinary pocket cigar case, but when wet it develops into a balloon that quickly floats the wearer to the surface of the water.

Chloride of Methyl as an Anaesthetic.

Chloride of methyl has the advantage over other anaesthetics of being absolutely without injurious effects on the heart, no matter what the dose. Chloroform affects the heart at the same instant as the respiration or even sooner. But chloride of methyl affects the respiration seven to eight minutes before the heart is influenced. In surgical practice it has the disadvantage that complete anaesthesia is difficult to reach; but, considering its harmless effects, it deserves experiment and trial.
